You must post a surety bond with the Idaho State Tax Commission. The amount must be equal to three times the average monthly beer or wine tax you owe. If you have a new business with no filing history, you must post a $1,000 beer bond if applying for a beer permit and a $1,000 wine bond for a wine permit.

Instead of posting a surety bond, you can deposit the bond amount into a joint savings account, or provide an automatically renewable certificate of deposit, an irrevocable letter of credit, cash, or other certifiable funds. When you file this application, you must include proof of posting a surety bond or other guarantee. We may drop the requirement after six months if the monthly tax you owe is $100 or less, and you've filed your returns and paid your taxes on time. Wine direct shippers may qualify for a bond waiver by completing the Wine Direct Shipper Bond Waiver Request Form.
