

Property Tax Administrative Rules and New Construction Roll

Property tax administrative rules give direction to assist in the administration of Idaho's property tax program and cover a range of topics from market value and appraisal instruction to procedures for the investigation of formal complaints. This course will explain the process by which property tax administrative rules become law. The course will provide a summary of each of the approximately 100 existing rules and encourage class participation to discuss any rule. The class will conclude with a discussion and explanation of ongoing issues and changes to both Idaho statutes and administrative rules known to be under consideration.
